The next decade of growth and impact for Scouting

I am honored to accept Germany's nomination as a candidate for re-election to the World Scout Committee. After serving on the board of World Scouting for 3 years, my core belief hasn't changed: Scouting is the best leadership and personal development education I have ever seen. Yet the world around us is changing fast and so are the realities of young people and of the NSOs serving them.

Together – NSOs, Regions and the global level – we have achieved a lot in the past triennium. But there is much left to do to ensure that Scouting remains a relevant, resilient and responsive movement that, deeply rooted in our values, evolves to meet the challenges of a new generation. With your support, I look forward to continuing my contribution to World Scouting on the path towards a new adventure!

Key Priorities

Having supervised the successful conclusion of Vision 2023 in my role on the World Scout Committee, I have seen first-hand the difference a robust support system can make for NSOs in achieving our common goals. As part of the next Strategy for Scouting and our new vision, I strongly believe we need to focus on supporting National Scout Organizations:

- in evolving their educational core and volunteering practices so Scouting remains a relevant space for young people and the adults serving them
- in reaching new communities and providing every young person, everywhere with the opportunity to join Scouting
- in providing a safe environment for Scouting adventures.

In our mission to bring on the next decade of growth and impact for Scouting, WOSM should lead by example and strengthen our good governance practices, invest in financial sustainability, and sharpen Scouting's image as a force for good.

Contribution

Beyond my professional expertise in organizational development and transformation, I'm offering a creative, strategic-conceptual mindset and a pragmatic, service-oriented approach to getting things done.

In my Scouting roles I've sought to deliver such as a servant leader, building consensus, including less represented voices, and focusing on good governance as well as a smart and effective use of our resources.
